JULY 2017 SUMMARY

Sales were 20.4% lower than June 2016 and 12.9% lower than the 10-year average

According to RAHB CEO George O'Neill:

-Comparing our sales and listings to last year's shows just how the market has shifted in recent months. More homes on the market and fewer purchasers combine to give more balance to the market.

-The trend that started developing back in April and May seems to be continuing, at least in the short term," noted O'Neill. "Where earlier in the year we were seeing list-to-sell ratios as high as 91 per cent – which indicates a deep seller's market – on the residential side, we are now seeing a more moderate market, with a 60 per cent list-to-sell ratio. This is much closer to a balanced market.
